

Why train at Xi Training?

History—Xi Training was one of the first ever providers of formal working at height training and as an organisation have been in operation for over a 15 years with additional experience training as a department within sister company LARS Communications. We devised and delivered the very first formal NVQ qualification for working at height training and to date have trained over 2,500 people to work safely at height. Our experience is unrivalled.

Industry Standards—Xi Training are one of the leading suppliers of working at height training in the UK and are widely regarded as the foremost provider for the Telecommunications industry. All of the core modules for work at height training are arqiva approved, i.e. Advanced Industrial Climber, High Structure Rescue, Rooftop Access and Radio Frequency (RF) Hazards.

Training Price—Xi Training course pricing is already competitive, however we're happy to match or beat the price of valid quotes* from our competitors and are confident of providing a better service, irrespective of price. We offer special discounts for clients that commit PPE and all training to Xi Training, as well as providing discounts for full or high delegate number courses.

Location—Our primary training facilities are 5 minutes from the M6 at junction 35 in the centre of the UK. We train clients across the whole country, and also frequently provide training for clients internationally too. Providing there's a suitable and safe structure to train on, we're also very happy to train at a location of your choice.

Business Terms & Flexibility—Xi Training are one of the few training companies that offer credit terms, without compromise on service. So long as you can guarantee payment for training within 28 days we'll release certificates as soon as they're generated, i.e. typically within 5 working days of training, or sooner if urgent. We're always going to prefer to book full courses for our clients, but know that from an operational perspective this isn't always easy. For this reason we try to be as flexible as possible and so we run weekly 'open' courses whereby single or low delegate numbers can attend.

Why train at Xi Training?

PPE Sales— Xi Training provide PPE from ALL major UK PPE manufacturers and distributors at very competitive prices and can provide great loyalty discounts on PPE for clients who commit their training to us. We don't push particular products onto the clients that we train just 'because we manufacture the products' (because we don't manufacture them), we can provide you with the PPE that you actually need rather than just what we 'make'.

PPE Inspection— In accordance with our clients' requirements, Xi Training can provide various service levels for the inspection and management of PPE such as competent person PPE certificates, complex PPE reporting, PPE quarantine/replacement and PPE issue to client personnel.

Diverse Training— We regularly provide± our clients a diverse range of training courses for other areas of health & safety and work at height. In many cases, we actually manage the training renewals for our clients too. Additional training that such as First Aid, PASMA, IPAF, Asbestos Awareness, IOSH, Abrasive Wheels, Manual Handling, Ladder Training, are just a snapshot of our training range.

Quality & Value For Money— Although our training prices are competitive, we know that our clients get more for their money than what other providers offer because we operate to industry recognised quality, health & safety standards♦ to ensure that quality and safety are kept consistently at a first rate benchmark. Wherever possible, Xi Training apply bespoke elements to our service at no extra cost, and all training provided onsite at Xi Training includes a home cooked meal at lunch, industry recognised certificate & photo ID card, all PPE, equipment, trainer & facilities hire, courseware and the opportunity for you to try out our other kit.
